Progress - at Loras College

This is the architect's drawing of the new residence hall which, when completed, will house pre-theological students at Loras.

The New Residence Hall

For many years the Archdiocese of Dubuque has prayed and worked that it might have a seminary of its own in which it might prepare the young men of the diocese for the "work of Christ." The many years of effort and planning have borne fruit in Mount St. Bernard Theological Seminary.

With the grace of God these endeavors not only supplied the Archdiocese with a theological seminary, but also contributed toward the erection of a building for the priesthood students of Loras College.

Construction of the new edifice began in the middle of November of 1952, and its prospective residents have been eagerly observing its erection, story by story. It is the hope of the College to open the doors of the new building in the forthcoming school year.

The building, situated on the north side of the Rock Bowl, will house one hundred and sixty students. Its commanding view of the Loras campus will serve as special note for all visitors to the college of its importance in properly molding "other Christs."

A name for this new residence hall has not yet been selected, but the cornerstone was laid by Their Excellencies Archbishop Rohlman, Archbishop Binz, and Bishop Lane on the feast of Saint Joseph, the Patron of the college. It is a tribute to these three that such a building could be erected for the honor and glory of Christ, our King.

The Most Reverend Henry P. Rohlman, D. D.

The most professional production of the year was that of T. S. Eliot's "The Cocktail Party." Although its free verse contains much profound and subtle symbolism, the audience was well rewarded by the cast, who went all out in presenting a lucid and precise drama.

Especially worthy of note were the two sets, designed by Rev. Edward P. Sullivan. The drawing room in the home of the well-to-do London barrister was constructed with a noble simplicity; and the psychiatrist's office, with its huge book case and secret door, equally as well done, was fashioned with an appealing novelty.

James Ryan and Robert Kaliban in the demanding roles of Sir Henry Harcourt-Reilly, and Edward Chamberlayne respectively, gave performances to be envied by any veteran of the Loras stage. Cynthia Craemer, as the talkative and bustling Julia, was delightful in a role she played to the fullest.

Marianne McCarthy and her stuffed Teddy Bear.

The "Curious Savage," by John Patrick, was the third offering of the season. This three-act comedy, which takes place in The Cloisters, an asylum for the demented in a Massachusetts town, is an elaboration on the notion that perhaps those we call insane are really more sane than those we call normal. It contains well measured amounts of both striking pathos, and rib-splitting humor.

Marianne McCarthy, playing in the title role of Mrs. Savage, did an admirable job in portraying the eccentric but likable woman who has been placed in an asylum by her selfish children. Cast in the roles of her children were Edward L. Krolak, as Samuel, an undistinguished judge; Cliff Lorenz, as Vitus the meddling senator; and Beverly Dolphin, as Lily Belle the society climber. Mrs. Savage has always wanted to use her wealth in a charitable but odd fashion. Her children, fearing that they will lose all that money, attempt to have their mother adjudged insane and thereby acquire full possession of the estate. Their plot, however, fails miserably, and Mrs. Savage triumphantly leaves them nothing.

The Lenten religious play this year was "The Zeal of Thy House" by Dorothy L. Sayers. The story takes place in 12th Century England in Christ's Church at Canterbury. Action centers about the reconstruction of the Cathedral.

Robert Kaliban portrayed the architect William of Sens, who was corrupt with a hateful pride, that led to his downfall. In the rebuilding William was fatally injured, but on his deathbed he repented his fault, mainly through the efforts of the Venerable Prior, played by John Garry.

The chorus of angels who watched over the proceedings, cautioning and reprimanding, were played by James Ryan, Robert McKillip, James Beggin, and Richard Runde.

Also responsibile for the successful season of the Loras players are those behind the scenes, without whose help the plays could not continue. They are the stage managers, electricians, stage crew, and the box office personnel.

This group is composed of those students who have earned a major letter at Loras in football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, or golf. These sports-minded men have been the greatest boosters of sportmanship in all campus activities. Its large membership and the quality of its members helps in making the organization an example of the true school spirit that should be exhibited by all of the students at Loras College.

Robert L. Gilbert, a junior from LaCrosse, headed the L Club's decoration committee for the Homecoming festivities. He led the letter bearers in erecting a mammoth Loras quarterback, constructed by Jack Burgmeier, that adorned the entrance to Keane Hall.

The Rev. Louis Ernsdorff was the Moderator of the club, and Eugene Benson, senior from Denver, Colo., was its representative to the Student Senate.

Delta Epsilon Sigma

Delta Epsilon Sigma is a national honor society for students and graduates of Catholic colleges and universities. The group was founded in Washington, D.C., in 1939. The Most Reverend E. A. Fitzgerald, now Bishop of Winona, Minnesota, but then Dean of Studies at Loras, was a leader in the formation of the society. Selection for the group is is made by a faculty committee of Delta Epsilon Sigma members and is made on the basis of leadership, scholarship, and general ability. The following fourteen men were chosen from this year's graduating class.

JOHN W. COLLOTON, a Commerce major from Mason City, Iowa, was president of the senior class and a member of the Commerce Club.

JOHN A. DONOHUE, a Chemistry major, makes his home in Chicago, Illinois.

BERNARD J. DRAHAZOL, a Commerce major from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was a member of the Commerce Club and a champion as far as the intramural sports program was concerned.

JOHN D. FARRELL, a Whittemore, Iowa, English major, was also Associate Editor of the SPOKESMAN, and a member of the Fine Arts Guild and Philosophy Club.

MARK J. GAUL, a Commerce major from Granville, Iowa, was also a member of the Commerce Club.

WILLIAM A. HEBER, a Latin major from Dubuque, Iowa, was Editor of the PURGOLD and also a senior Cleric.

JAMES J. KIVLAHAN, a Biology major, makes his home in Farley, Iowa.

THOMAS G. KRESS, a Commerce major from Dubuque, Iowa, was President of the newly organized Commerce Club.

EUGENE J. LEIF, an Austin, Minnesota, Philosophy major, was a member of the Cleric group and also Co-Captain of the varsity football team, besides being a member of the Commerce Club.

ROBERT H. McKILLIP, a French major from La Crosse, Wisconsin, was a senior Cleric and also Sports Publicity Director for the college.

TERRY L. MEALY, a Latin major from Mason City, Iowa, was a member of Cleric group and the Iowa Future Teachers Organization.

EDWARD P. RICHERT was a Commerce major from Chicago, Illinois, and Vice President of the Commerce Club.

DONALD D. WASHBURN, a Biology major from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was President of the Student Senate and head of the Sacristan group.

DAVID J. ZAEHRINGER, a Clinton, Iowa, English major, was Book Review editor of the SPOKESMAN and stage manager for the Loras Players.

Spokesman

This year the Spokesman had Volume L on her title page—fifty years at Loras. The Lorian, the Purgold, and even the Alumni News, are all offspring of the Spokesman. However the old girl didn't stop to celebrate, she just went on publishing the stories, essays, and verses of Lorasmen. She hoped that each issue would be her best; sometimes it was, sometimes not.

Bill Joffe held down the editor's chair for the second year. Helping him in the tricky job of putting the old lady in shape for her public appearances were the associate editors, John Farrell, Jim Ryan, and Bob Tweed.

Dave Zaehringer as the Book Review Editor contributed a new feature this year, Potpourri, which was a sort of bookish version of Dorothy Kilgallen's column. Dave Brom and Bill Mills contributed the sketches which livened up the old girl's pages, and Joe Russell and Carl Trutter kept her in circulation.

The Spokesman has her traditional niche here at Loras and yet she has a way of stepping out each year in a new dress and with some new ideas in her pages, just to let everyone know that she is still around, and alive, and kicking.

So here's a toast to the old girl: To the Spokesman, in the hope that the end of the next fifty years will find you still at Loras, and still a vital and interesting part of the college scene.

Lorian

Complete coverage of campus news was the objective of the Lorian, biweekly student newspaper, during the past year. The staff of 19 put in many busy hours fulfilling that objective.

Chief change in the paper was the conversion from an eight-column large newspaper size to the five-column tabloid type. During the second semester, the number of pages was increased from six to eight.

A new editorial policy was inaugurated and intramurals commanded a special page.

Wayne M. Welch, junior, was editor-in-chief during the 14-issue year. Edward Krolak, junior, acted as sports editor and John Thomas, sophomore, handled the intramural scene.

We of the PURGOLD staff have attempted this year to produce what we will call a picture book. We find that in later years, as one looks over old annuals, the pictures of the book are the main point of interest. We were fortunate in having an excellent photographer, Clarence Engler, and we hope we, in arranging and placing his pictures, have done them no harm.

We also want to thank those who, though not listed on the staff, gave valuable time in helping with such details as the subscription drive, taking of senior pictures, etc.: Vern Zewiske, Ray Ludwig, Bill Schwartz, John O'Connor, Dave Runde, Clarence Kruse, Paul Rastatter, Charlie Yetmar, and Dan Krapfl.

The most recent addition to the list of officially organized groups on campus is the Commerce club, which was approved in February of 1953. Supervised by its moderator, Mr. Lester Becker, the Club aims to provide its members with information not obtainable through the commerce curriculum at Loras College. This information which is of a business nature is made obtainable through field trips, speakers, job studies, movies, discussions and other media.

The club is composed of juniors and seniors who are majoring in commerce or accounting, and who are enrolled in an upper level course in commerce. They have an ambition to go forward and a desire to increase their knowledge of commercial endeavors.

Thomas Kress, a senior from Dubuque, was elected President of the organization; and Edward Richert, a senior from Chicago, was chosen as Secretary.

Activities commenced in February with a lecture and demonstration by a representative from the International Business Machine Corporation. He pointed out the need for men in that field, and illustrated the many advantages available for qualified men. In April, a field trip was made to a business firm in town that had these machines in use. This enabled the members to examine the workings of the machines and to witness their usefulness.

CSMC

The CSMC unit at Loras set out in the beginning of the year to set a new record in bringing in money for the Mission Field. Everyone was greatly pleased over the returns from the pop, ice cream, candy, hot dog, and delicious coffee sales at the football games, when along came the basketball games which proved to be another bonanza.

But it seemed that all hope for a record was lost as the usually successful St. Pat's Mission Auction neared. Two days before the auction Charlie Yetmar was begging on hands and knees for "just anything." Then articles fell, "as if from heaven", and enough for two auctions was carried to the auction hall. The auctioneers were outstanding, the "buys" were terrific, and pockets were bulging—What else could happen?—The Missions netted $717.04, well over the record set in 1952. The famed Matilda sold for $100, another record.

But this wasn't all! St. Hermenegild, a good friend of St. Pat, but not to be outdone, offered another auction on his feast day, although the articles left from St. Pat's Auction were used. This added another $250 plus to the fund, raising the year's total to over $2260.00.

Sodality

During recent years the membership and the activities of the Sodality have increased to the point where the need arose for two moderators, the Revs. Robert Vogl and Daniel Tarrant capably filled these positions and guided the Sodality in its activities throughout the year.

The primary purpose of the Sodality is to increase devotion and love toward the Blessed Virgin. In accomplishing this aim the Sodality is divided into six committees: Eucharistic, Our Lady's, Apostolic, Catholic Truth, Membership, and Publicity.

The Eucharistic Committee attempts to make Christ better known, and tries to achieve this by providing for First Friday Adoration, etc. The daily Rosary and First Saturday Meditations are under the sponsorship of Our Lady's Committee. The Apostolic Committee makes a weekly visit to the orphanage to care for, and introduce new sports and games to, the children. The members of this committee also sponsor an annual Christmas party for the orphans.

The Catholic Truth Committee aims at the defense of the Church, and this is accomplished through the distribution of pamphlets, Catholic newspapers, religious Christmas cards, and other forms of literature. The Membership Committee provides for candidate instruction and counseling supervision. The duty of keeping Sodalists and all students alert to Sodality activity belongs to the Publicity Committee.

Dominicans

At the beginning of each month, in the Chapel of Christ, the King, at Loras, the Third Order of Saint Dominic, in keeping with the recommendations of its rule, holds its monthly meeting. At the meeting the monthly meeting prayers are said, and, absolution from faults committed against the rule is given by the Director, the Rev. Joseph B. Malvey, O.P. This talk is usually on the Third Order, its ideals, rule, and practice of the rule.

During the school year, 1952-1953, besides the regular meetings, the Third Order took on a few extra projects. Primary among these was the Angelic Warfare drive. In this drive members of the Third Order distributed over one hundred-and-fifty Purity Cords.

Franciscans

The Third Order of St. Francis strives to follow the pattern set by its founder, Saint Francis of Assisi, and in doing this stresses spiritual gain and places little emphasis on secular activity.

Meetings are held once a month, at which time a talk on one of the saints of the Order is given by a member of the organization. Talks this year were based on the lives of Saint Francis, Mother Cabrini, and Saint Francis de Sales. These saints were picked because of their Franciscan spirit.

Sacristans

Six Lorasmen are chosen each year by the college's Spiritual Director, the Very Rev. Ernest P. Ament, to devote some of their time to work of the sacristy. The sacristans endeavor to train the Junior and Senior clerics in the rites and duties for Low and Solemn High Masses. It is the duty of these men to see to it that there are servers for the weekday Masses in both the Chapel of Christ the King and the Chapel of the Twelve Apostles.

Don Washburn, head sacristan, has been privileged to serve as a sacristan for three years. Paul Rastatter, the only other Senior sacristan, had the duty of appointing servers in the Twelve Apostles Chapel. The two Junior sacristans were Phil Ruggle and Clarence Engler. Clarence is the third of three brothers who have served in this position. The "yearlings" in this group were underclassmen Tom Braak and Dick Kielebasa.

Prayer Leaders

"Work as if everything depended upon you; pray as if everything depended upon God!" As good leaders are necessary for efficient government or the Church's hierarchy, so too leaders are needed for common prayer. The tradition at Loras is for our morning and evening prayers to be said in common, therefore prayer leaders are appointed by the Spiritual Director to assist the students in these prayers.

The prayer leaders for this school year were Bob Cizek from Cedar Rapids, Iowa: Bob Gilbert from LaCrosse, Wisconsin: and Gene Leif who makes his home in Austin, Minnesota.

These men were chosen for their fine voice quality and also for their qualities of leadership on the Loras campus.

The victory bell, a trophy emblematic of football superiority between Loras and arch-rival St. Ambrose college, is admired by 1952 co-captains Jack Burgmeier (left) and Gene Leif. Loras retained the coveted bell for the second consecutive year by virtue of a 34-6 victory over St. Ambrose in the final game of the 1952 season.

Football

The 1952 Loras college football squad, one of the greatest teams in the history of the school, won eight games and lost one during an unforgettable season that was climaxed by a 34-6 victory over arch-rival St. Ambrose college of Davenport. The lone setback on the schedule was a 21-0 decision suffered at the hands of a veteran St. Norbert squad in West De Pere, Wis., the night of November 1. Prior to that the Lorasmen had won six games in a row and visions of a possible undefeated and untied record were seen by Duhawk fans. Despite the defeat that ruined the undefeated tag, the Duhawks bounced back strong to defeat St. Thomas college in the Homecoming battle in Rock Bowl Stadium and then smothered St. Ambrose to retain the Victory Bell on the Loras campus for another year. The win-loss record was the best since the 1948 Loras Duhawks won 7 and lost one.

The Coaching Staff, head mentor Dick Friend (left) and assistant coach Clarence (Lefty) Koob, keenly observe an early practice session last Fall prior to the season opener. Friend in his second season at the Duhawk helm directed the Loras gridders to eight wins in nine games. Over a two year span, the Notre Dame graduate had a coaching record at Loras of 14 wins and 5 defeats. Koob, a former Loras athletic star, was in his freshman season as a coach on the Hilltop.

Despite bearing the title of the highest scoring team in 1952 Midlands conference football competition, the Loras college Duhawks wound up in second place when the season ended. The game which kept the Duhawks from the league title was the defeat by coach Tom Heardon's Green Knights of St. Norbert college.

Loras' victories in league competition were a 56-0 decision over St. Joseph college, a 21-7 margin over defending champion Lewis college: and a 34-6 decision over St. Ambrose college. Seven Lorasmen gained positions on the All-Midlands football squad at the end of the season. The players on the offensive platoon included end, Bob Gilbert; tackle, Gene Leif; guard, George Kleist; quarterback, Bob Bertsch; and fullback, Laurie Pagnanelli. Loras' defensive stars honored by the selection committee were halfback, Fred Huber; and tackle, Glenn Pickart.

Aces in Action

New football records and outstanding performances during the 1952 season mark the grid careers of these five Duhawk stars in action. In the upper left corner is end Bob Gilbert, a junior from La Crosse, Wis., who set a new record in pass receptions (31) and individual scoring (10 TDs); center above is quarterback Bob Bertsch, senior from Dubuque who set new marks in passes attempted (118), passes completed (52) and individual total offense (1,003 yards); in the upper right corner is fullback Laurie Pagnanelli, senior from Salt Lake City, who was the Duhawks' top ground gainer in '52 with a total of 620 yards and an average of 5.3 yards per try; at the left is halfback Fred Huber, senior from Monroe, Wis., who set a new career scoring record with 129 points. A regular for three seasons, Fred scored 10 touchdowns, kicked 66 points after the TD and booted one field goal for his point total. At the right is tackle Glenn Pickart, 230-pound tackle from Cedar Rapids, Ia., who was the defensive star on Loras' great 1952 squad.

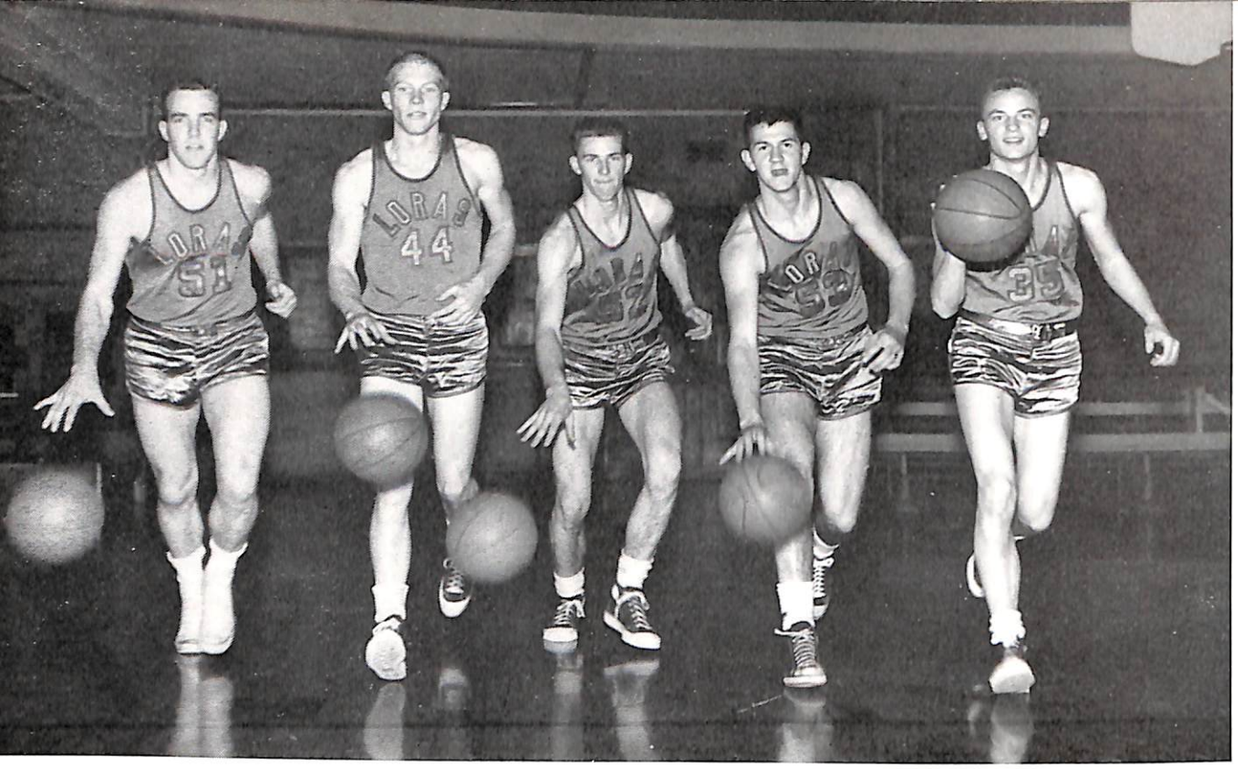
A handy man to have around—that's head basketball coach Vince Dowd. For during the 1952-53 basketball season coach Dowd passed the 200 victory mark in his 12-year career as cage mentor of the Loras Duhawks. Vince's overall record now reads 208 wins and 107 losses, a winning mark of 67 percent. The publicity shot above shows Vince counting fingers and hands which the photographer hoped would equal the number of basketball wins posted by the Loras coach.

1952-53 Basketball

Loras college basketball fans, hungry for winning basketball after the famine of the 1951-52 season, found it this year in the highest scoring cage unit that ever performed as the Loras college Duhawks. Boasting an all-underclassmen lineup, Coach Vince Dowd's 1952-53 crew averaged 77 points per contest in winning 17 games on a 28 game schedule that included two post season playoffs. Despite a poor start in pre-holiday cage action which saw Loras win only four of 11 contests, the young and talented aggregation slipped into high gear at the start of the new year and proceeded to capture 13 of their next 17 games. Probably the two most exciting games of the year were with Wartburg college, defending Iowa conference champions. In the first meeting on Wartburg's floor, Loras gained a last minute 74-73 hair-raising decision, but it was nothing compared to the return game on the Hilltop court in February. Loras stopped Big Bill Adix and Company that time by a 100-97 score in two overtimes, one of the wildest and wooliest games ever played on Loras' home floor. The only mar on the season slate was Loras' inability to beat a fine St. Ambrose college team, the Duhawks' arch rival. Loras won the first meeting 93-71, but then dropped three successive games by scores of 77-67, 89-87, in an overtime, and 94-77. The first two losses with the Bees decided the championships in the Midlands and Iowa conferences respectively while the third loss was an N.A.I.A. playoff game



The starting five in most of Loras' basketball games this season included the above lineup (l-r) guard Bob Lutgen, forward Les Teeling, guard Mike Wormley, center Bob Kowalsky and forward Leo Schlueter.

Vince Tiano, Loras college's stylish southpaw, was the mainstay of a Duhawk pitching staff that carried the 1952 baseball squad to the pennant in the northern division of the Iowa conference. Tiano, a senior from Des Moines, Iowa, gained seven wins without a loss against Duhawk opponents.

Baseball

Pennant Winners

Following the baseball-wise proverb that championship teams win the close games, the Loras college Duhawks hung up their first baseball pennant in history during the 1952 season, mainly on the strength of winning five one-run decision in league competition. Loras' overall league record was 7-0, a mark which gave them the title in the northern division of the Iowa conference.

Power hitting and clutch pitching were the key to Loras' winning formula. Lefty Vince Tiano was the Duhawks' top pitcher with a perfect record of seven straight wins, his best year in his career with the Loras nine. Tiano's outstanding performance was a masterful two-hit seven inning relief appearance against defending champion Buena Vista college at Storm Lake. The veteran chucker rescued starter Tom Schneider in the third inning with the bases loaded and nobody out. Retiring the sides without allowing a run to score, Tiano held the powerful Buena Vista batters to a pair of hits and one unearned run the rest of the route. Meanwhile, Loras scored the winning run in the eighth inning for a 3-2 victory.

Big Romie Gales, veteran third sacker, represented the power in the Loras lineup. He collected the most number of hits (17), drove in the most runs (12) and collected three home runs while compiling a .362 batting average.

Rain twice cancelled a return game with Buena Vista.

Conference commissioner Morey Eby also ruled that there would be no playoff between Loras, the northern division champion, and Simpson, the southern titlists, for the conference championship because the game would have had to been played following the end of the academic school year.

Pennant Winners in the Northern Division of the Iowa Conference were the 1952 Loras college baseball squad including (left to right) standing Coach Vince Dowd, Jim Corcoran, Lou Polich, Leo Schlueter, Romie Gales, Lyle O'Connor, Tom Schneider, Don Hearn, Lou Diaz, Gene Leif and Jim Nacke; kneeling (l-r) Dick Merkel, Vince Tiano, Bill Howie, Doug Venne, Marv Mauel, Joe Elbert and Jim Shaber. The Sluggers

The batting power which carried the 1952 Loras baseball squad to its first pennant in history last spring was supplied by the above five righthanders who accounted for 59 base hits (including five homeruns) and 45 RBIs. The sluggers (l-r) are outfielder Tom Schneider, outfielder Doug Venne, third baseman Romie Gales, catcher Gene Leif and second baseman Bill (Scooter) Howie.

1952 Track

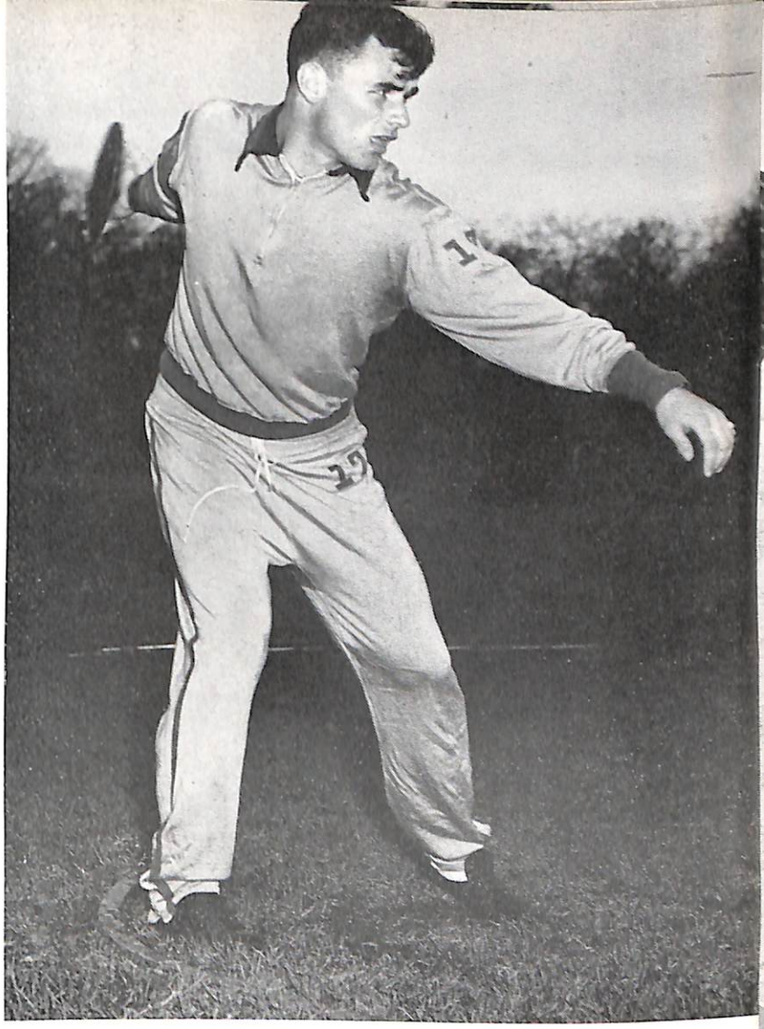
Duhawk Track Star, Johnny Richard (right), Loras college's sole entry at the Iowa conference finals in 1952, discusses the events he will enter with head coach Jean Schneider. Richard gave Loras a seventh place finish in the finals with eight personal points, including a winning first in the 220-yard low hurdles. His time was :26.8.

Track fortunes on the Loras college Hillto p dropped below par in the 1952 season as the Duhawks entered only one thinclad in the Iowa conference finals at Simpson college in late May. With only three returning veterans, Coach Jean Schneider had to rebuild an almost entire squad from a turnout of 35 candidates who had no or little previous cinder experience. It was the first season as head track mentor for coach Schneider. Despite the lack of star performers, Loras' capable cindermen did score a pair of one-sided victories in dual meets with St. Ambrose college by scores of 80⅓-50⅔ and 72-57. The Duhawk runners also competed at the Iowa State Teachers Relays, Drake Relays, Beloit Relays and the Northern Division meet at Wartburg college.

Trouble Along the Way

Injuries and lack of experience kept Loras' track team in the class of also-rans during the 1952 season. The Duhawks were particularly weakened in the track events when a pulled leg muscle rendered sprinter Carl Warner ineffective for the entire spring. Warner had been a mild sensation as a freshman in 1951 when he established a new Loras record of :50.8 in the 440-yard run.

An injury to Jack Burgmeier, holder of the Loras discus record, ruined the Duhawks' chances for scoring heavily in field competition. Johnny Richard, a hard working competitor, was the Duhawks' top scorer, earning points in both high and low hurdles and in the pole vault. At the Iowa Conference finals Richard won first in the 220-yard low hurdles, fourth in the 120-yard high hurdles; and fifth in the pole vault.



Jack Burgmeier, veteran thinclad in field competition, winds up in preparation to heave the discus during one of last season's meets. "Burgie" owns the Loras discus record of 133 feet, ¼ inch, a mark he established in 1950.

1952 Golf

Loras college's 1952 golf squad, completing its regular season schedule with nine wins and three losses, lost its Iowa conference championship, however, when Parsons college finished with a strong 310 total team score in the league finals played at Dubuque's Bunker Hill course last May. The Duhawk linksmen finished second with a 315 score, five strokes off the pace. The squad members (l-r) are back row: Coach Lester Becker, Mike Wormley, Jim Tretter and Les Teeling; front row: Fred Sehring, Paul Rastatter, Tom Braak, and Paul Leonard.

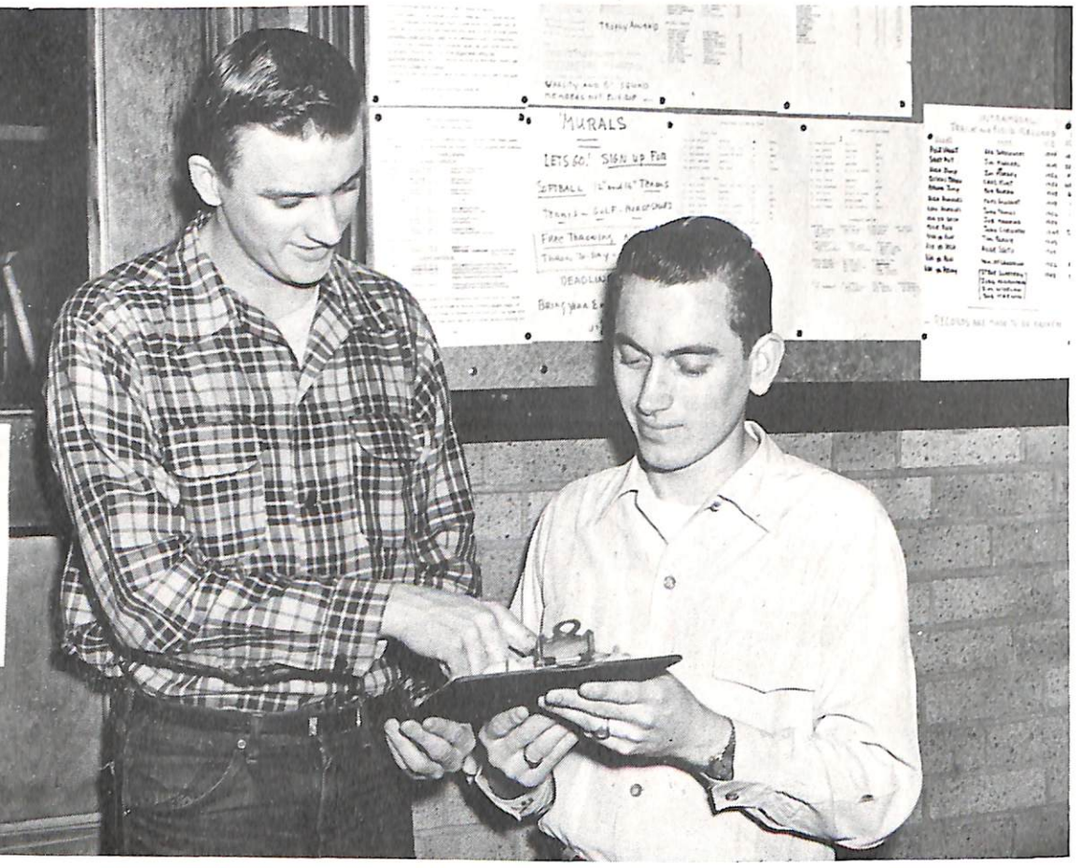
1952-53 Intramurals



The Drahozal brothers, Ed (left) and Bernie, represent two of Loras college's most outstanding intramural representatives during the 1952-53 school year. The two brothers from Cedar Rapids participated in every phase of the intramural program and as a result they staged a two man race for the top individual honors. Both have been star performers with winning football, volleyball and basketball teams, and in addition, Bernie won first in the tennis doubles and second in the singles while Ed came through with a second in horseshoe pitching.

The Spoils . . .

The mastermind behind Loras College's outstanding intramural program, Coach Vince Dowd, seems lost amid the spoils which were awarded to team and individual champions this year. Almost seventy-five percent of the student body takes part in Loras Intramurals which include touch football, volleyball, basketball, tennis, handball, horseshoes, bowling, ping-pong, boxing, track and softball.

and The Victors

Loras' best in intramurals, the 1952-53 Midlands Extramural representatives, pose for the cameraman before boarding the bus to travel to St. Joseph's college in Rensselaer, Ind. The intramuralists (l-r) are back row: John Tierney, Tom McAndrew, Jerry Till, Gene Leif, Ed Drahozal, Don Hearn, John Gleason and Bernie Drahozal; middle row: Trainer John (Doc) Kammer, John Clark, Bob Mackey, Bill Heber, Dan Overack, Don Washburn, Bob O'Drobinak and Gary Ferguson; front row: Dick Voellinger, Dick Merkel, Jim Corcoran, Ray Ludwig, Tom Pfiffner, Dave Runde, Barney Neahaus and intramural director Vince Dowd.

Sweet sixteen and never beaten was the caption given to Loras' 1952-53 intramural basketball champions, Bill Todd, Inc., following their sweep through league play and the double elimination playoffs over the winter months. The team stretched their string to 17 straight wins before losing 45-42 to St. Ambrose in the finals at the Midlands Extramural Tournament. Team members (l-r) are front row: Dan Overack, Bernie Drahozal, Bob O'Drobinak and Dick Merkel; second row: Don Hearn, Gene Leif, Jerry Till and Ed Drahozal.

Student Co-op
University of California at Los Angeles
Los Angeles, California

In Los Angeles, California, a favorite gathering spot of students at the University of California at Los Angeles is the Student Co-op because it is a cheerful place—full of friendly university atmosphere. And when the gang gathers around, ice-cold Coca-Cola gets the call. For here, as in college haunts everywhere—Coke belongs.
